Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Unplasticized PVC (UPVC) competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. Unplasticized Polyvinyl Chloride (uPVC) is a rigid form of PVC that does not contain plasticizers, making it strong, durable, and resistant to corrosion and weathering. It is widely used in construction, plumbing, electrical conduits, and window frames. Compared to regular PVC, uPVC is more robust and does not contain harmful substances like phthalates or BPA, making it suitable for potable water systems. Its excellent machinability and cost-effectiveness make uPVC an ideal alternative to traditional metal materials.

The global Unplasticized PVC (UPVC) market size was estimated at USD 1063.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.70% during the forecast period.
