Abstracts

A Webtoon self-publishing platform is an online platform where independent creators can publish their own digital comics or webtoons without the need for a traditional publisher. These platforms provide tools and resources for creators to upload their work, manage episodes, interact with readers, and potentially monetize their content. Creators can self-publish their webtoons, retaining creative control and ownership, while platforms like LINE Webtoon, Tapas, and Lezhin Comics offer a global audience reach. Some platforms also provide features like ad revenue sharing, crowdfunding integration, and premium content subscriptions that allow creators to earn income. Additionally, many self-publishing platforms encourage interaction between creators and readers through comments, fan art, and community engagement, helping to build a loyal fanbase. The rise of these platforms has democratized the webtoon industry, allowing anyone with artistic talent and a story to tell to share their work and gain visibility. The Webtoon self-publishing platform market has experienced rapid growth, driven by the increasing popularity of digital comics and the rise of independent content creation. Platforms like LINE Webtoon, Tapas, and Lezhin Comics have empowered creators to publish their work directly to a global audience, bypassing traditional publishing barriers. The growth of these platforms is fueled by the demand for diverse and niche content, with readers seeking a wide range of genres and styles that may not be available in mainstream media. Monetization options, such as ad revenue sharing, crowdfunding, and premium subscriptions, have attracted more creators, transforming webtoon creation into a viable career path. As the market matures, platforms are investing in globalization efforts, including translation services, to expand reach across international markets. This democratization of content creation has also led to the discovery of new talent, with many webtoon creators securing partnership deals or seeing their work adapted into other media formats, such as TV shows and films.

The global Webtoon Self-Publishing Platform market size was estimated at USD 4093.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.60% during the forecast period.
