Abstracts

A wedge locking washer, also known as a tooth lock washer, is a mechanical fastener accessory designed to prevent nuts, bolts or other threaded fasteners from loosening under vibration or dynamic loads. It typically features a series of teeth or wedges on its surface. When installed, these teeth or wedges bite into the mating surfaces of the fastened components, creating a frictional force that resists rotation and axial movement. This locking mechanism provides enhanced security and stability to the fastening connection, ensuring that the assembled parts remain in place and function properly in various applications, such as in automotive, machinery and construction industries.

The global Wedge Locking Washer market size was estimated at USD 377.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.80% during the forecast period.
