Abstracts

Zero Trust Network Architecture (ZTNA) is a security model that operates on the principle of "never trust, always verify." Unlike traditional network security models, which often rely on perimeter defenses (such as firewalls) to secure internal resources, Zero Trust assumes that threats could exist both inside and outside the network. Therefore, it requires continuous verification of every user, device, and connection before granting access to resources, regardless of their location.

The global Zero Trust Network Architecture market size was estimated at USD 27040.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 15.80% during the forecast period.

This report offers a comprehensive and in-depth analysis of the global Zero Trust Network Architecture market, covering all critical facets from a broad macroeconomic overview to detailed micro-level insights. It examines market size, competitive landscape, emerging development trends, niche segments, key drivers and challenges, as well as conducts SWOT and value chain analyses.
