Report Overview

Heat-Treated Pallets (HT Pallets) are wooden pallets that have undergone a specific heat treatment process to eliminate any potential pests, fungi, and bacteria that may be present in the wood. This process involves exposing the pallets to high temperatures for a specific duration, ensuring that the wood is free from any harmful organisms. HT Pallets are widely used in industries that require international shipping, as they meet the ISPM 15 (International Standards for Phytosanitary Measures) requirements, which are designed to prevent the spread of pests and diseases across borders. These pallets are also known for their durability, as the heat treatment process enhances their strength and resistance to decay. HT Pallets are an environmentally friendly option, as they do not require chemical treatments, and they are suitable for use in various applications, including transportation, storage, and packaging of goods.
