Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Multifocal Soft Contact Lenses competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. Multifocal soft corneal contact lenses (multifocal soft lenses, defocus soft lenses) are contact lenses with a special peripheral defocus design. Through the special design around the lens, myopic defocus is produced, thereby providing clear vision while slowing down myopia and the growth of the eye axis. In 2024, global Multifocal Soft Contact Lenses production reached approximately 12.08 million Pcs, with an average global market price of around US$13 per piece. This product typically has a single-line production capacity of approximately 500,000 to 1,000,000 units, with an industry gross profit margin of approximately 20%-40%. Raw materials account for the largest portion of costs (30%-50%), followed by equipment depreciation and manufacturing/labor costs (20%-35%). The upstream suppliers of this product are high-purity monomers and functional additives, as well as mold and molding/testing equipment suppliers. The downstream suppliers are ophthalmology/optometry prescription channels, fitting stores/chain retailers, e-commerce platforms, and distributors.

The global Multifocal Soft Contact Lenses market size was estimated at USD 157.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 15.30% during the forecast period.
