Abstracts

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Non Alcoholic Sparkling Wine competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations. Non alcoholic sparkling wine is a type of beverage that mimics the taste and appearance of traditional sparkling wine but contains little to no alcohol. It is often made using a similar process to regular sparkling wine, with the fermentation of grape juice to create carbonation. However, the alcohol content is removed or reduced through various methods, such as vacuum distillation or reverse osmosis. The non alcoholic sparkling wine industry is experiencing exponential growth and transformative trends, driven by shifting consumer preferences, technological advancements, and a broader cultural shift toward wellness and inclusivity. This growth is fueled by "conscious sobriety" movements, particularly among millennials and Gen Z, who seek celebratory alternatives without alcohol's drawbacks. In Europe, sales of dealcoholized wines have surged by over 25% in five years, while the U.S. market grows at 15% annually, driven by health-conscious consumers and increased availability in restaurants and retail. Producers are investing in cutting-edge dealcoholization technologies like vacuum distillation and spinning cone column (SCC) systems to retain the complexity and aroma of traditional wines.

The global Non Alcoholic Sparkling Wine market size was estimated at USD 5741.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 3.60% during the forecast period.
