Abstracts

To address the limitations of traditional wine tasting events, such as geographical constraints, high participation costs, and limited experience formats, virtual wine tasting events have emerged. Since the maturation of internet technology and real-time interactive platforms in the early 21st century, virtual wine tasting has gradually risen and continuously evolved. It has now developed into an innovative experience model that integrates live streaming tours, multi-directional interaction, digital wine lists, and sensory simulation, and is widely used in winery promotion, brand tasting, industry training, and enthusiast social networking. This significantly expands the accessibility, interactivity, and immersive experience of wine tasting events. With the popularization of 5G/6G networks and the iteration of AI algorithms, virtual wine tasting will evolve towards a "hyper-realistic experience." For example, using haptic feedback gloves to simulate the texture of the wine, or combining brain-computer interface technology to capture user emotional responses. At the same time, wineries need to balance technological innovation with cost control, avoiding marketing gimmicks that prioritize technology for its own sake. Only by deeply understanding user needs and strengthening ecosystem collaboration can they reconstruct the core value of the wine appreciation economy in the digital age.

The global Virtual Wine Tasting market size was estimated at USD 430.0 million in 2025 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 6.80% during the forecast period.
