Abstracts

Primary immunodeficiency diseases (PID) are a group of inherited genetic disorders of the genes governing the immune system. PIDs are a group of more than 200 rare, chronic disorders in which part of the body's immune system is missing or functions improperly. Some types of PID affect a single part of the immune system while others may affect one or more components of the system.

This report provides the current prevalent population for PID disease across 21 Major Markets (USA, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, UK, Brazil, Japan, India, Switzerland, Netherlands, Turkey, Sweden, Belgium, Poland, Hungary, Czech Republic, Austria, Greece, Argentina and Mexico) split by gender and 5-year age cohort. Along with the current prevalence, the report also contains a disease overview of the risk factors, disease diagnosis and prognosis along with specific variations by geography and ethnicity.

Providing a value-added level of insight from the analysis team at Black Swan, several of the main syndromes and sub-classifications of PID have been quantified and presented alongside the overall prevalence figures. These sub-populations within the main disease are also included at a country level across the 10-year forecast snapshot.

Main symptoms and co-morbidities for PID include:

Severe Congenital Immunodeficiency (SCID)

Recurrent or persistent infections

Allergic manifestations

Respiratory diseases

Organ Problems

Developmental delay

This report is built using data and information sourced from the proprietary Epiomic patient segmentation database. To generate accurate patient population estimates, the Epiomic database utilises a combination of several world class sources that deliver the most up to date information from patient registries, clinical trials and epidemiology studies. All of the sources used to generate the data and analysis have been identified in the report.

Please be aware that for some markets represented within this report, data is unavailable due to some markets being unable to report the same classifications and sub-classifications that are reported in other markets.

Reason to buy

Able to quantify patient populations in global PID’s market to target the development of future products, pricing strategies and launch plans.

Gain further insight into the prevalence of the subdivided types of PID and identify patient segments with high potential.

Delivery of more accurate information for clinical trials in study sizing and realistic patient recruitment for various countries.

Provide a level of understanding on the impact from specific co-morbid conditions on PID’s prevalent population.

Identify sub-populations within PID which require treatment.

Gain an understanding of the specific markets that have the largest number of PID patients.
