Abstracts

Retinal Vein Occlusion (RVO) is a common vascular disorder of the retina and one of the most common causes of vision loss worldwide. It is caused by the blockage of a portion of the venous circulation that drains the retina and can result in haemorrhage and fluid loss. This report provides the current prevalent population for RVO across 8 Major Markets (USA, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, UK, Brazil and Japan) split by gender and 5-year age cohort. Along with the current prevalence, the report provides an overview of the types, occlusion locations and the prevalence of associated disorders of RVO. The report also contains a disease overview of the risk factors, disease diagnosis and prognosis along with specific variations by geography and ethnicity.

Providing a value-added level of insight from the analysis team at Black Swan, several of the main symptoms and co-morbidities of RVO have been quantified and presented alongside the overall prevalence figures. These sub-populations within the main disease are also included at a country level across the 10-year forecast snapshot.

Main symptoms and co-morbidities for RVO include:

Visual complications

Blindness

Cardiovascular diseases

Diabetes mellitus

Hypertension

Glaucoma

Dense Muscular haemorrhage

This report is built using data and information sourced from the proprietary Epiomic patient segmentation database. To generate accurate patient population estimates, the Epiomic database utilises a combination of several world class sources that deliver the most up to date information from patient registries, clinical trials and epidemiology studies. All of the sources used to generate the data and analysis have been identified in the report.

Reason to buy

Able to quantify patient populations in global RVO's market to target the development of future products, pricing strategies and launch plans.

Gain further insight into the prevalence of the subdivided types of RVO and identify patient segments with high potential.

Delivery of more accurate information for clinical trials in study sizing and realistic patient recruitment for various countries.

Provide a level of understanding on the impact from specific co-morbid conditions on RVO's prevalent population.

Identify sub-populations within RVO which require treatment.

Gain an understanding of the specific markets that have the largest number of RVO patients.
