Abstracts

Meat product hot topics in 2013:

In 2013, the Chinese government standardized the use of veterinary drugs, feed and feed additives, strictly cracking down on the use of banned agriculture veterinary drugs, such as clenbuterol, malachite green and other banned substances. This also further standardizes the meat-product processing industry.

From 2012 to 2013, Fast growing chicken event has had a huge impact in animal husbandry. Because consumers were insufficient in the knowledge of modern scientific development, many of them believe that it's a violation of natural growth rate, resulting in a substantial reduction in consumption market.

The network media focused the H7N9 bird flu for the whole year in 2013. Because the person was infected by H7N9, this caused a great panic between the consumers. Meat product consumption decreased largely, the poultry industry suffered great losses.

Background:

The Chinese meat-product processing industry is transforming from a traditional mature industry to a modern rising-sun industry.
