Abstracts

Pesticide price plays an important role in Chinese pesticide market. In 2013, China's pesticide price experienced fluctuation in the whole year, owing to some factors like environmental protection pressure, demand situation and climate change are affecting pesticides prices, and these factors will still affect it when entering into 2014.

Meanwhile, pesticide price index will still be determined by the herbicide price index. And other kinds of pesticide price index will also affect it. This report mainly introduces many varieties of different pesticide products, which include herbicides, insecticides and fungicides. What's more, it further stated the price, basic information and their capacity and output in recent years about these different pesticide products, such as glyphosate, paraquat, abamectin, chlorpyrifos, carbendazim, azoxystrobin, etc.

Finally, this report stated some prediction about the price of pesticide in China in H2 2014.

Some new pesticide varieties products have emerged, which will bring influences to Chinese pesticide market and attract more attention in recent years.
