Abstracts

The production scale of vitamin B2 in China is small compared with that of other kinds of vitamins; basically, about half of vitamin B2 products produced in China will be exported with the rest sold domestically. During 2011 and 2012, China's capacity of vitamin B2 stayed at 9,600t/a, and its output didn't change a lot either, because both domestic and foreign demand for vitamin B2 didn't change much in this period.

This report provides you concise information about the vitamin B2 industry in China, discovering not only the latest dynamics of production situation and producers, but also price, import and export, and the application fields of the vitamin B2 products. Besides, the technology and raw materials of vitamin B2 are also available here. Overall, this brief report will present you a comprehensive and clear picture of the vitamin B2 industry in China.
