This is a brief introduction to the product of dicyclopentadiene in China.

Even though there is large gap between the supply and demand of dicyclopentadiene, and its market potential is great in China, the production expansion in Chinese producers is very slow, for lack of sufficient raw material supply.

None of the dicyclopentadiene produced in China has been exported so far.

The aim of this report is to provide a basic understanding to the readers about the Chinese dicyclopentadiene. The report discusses and summarizes the current production situation in China, product specifications, import & export, raw materials, producers, etc.
