Abstracts

Glyphosate is one of the most popular herbicides in the world nowadays and it also has a fast development in China. However, the fast development in China was based on high pollution and high resource consumption. Therefore, Chinese government decided to carry out glyphosate (PMIDA) environmental protection scrutiny.

For domestic glyphosate enterprises, passing the scrutiny will directly affect their production and export business, or even their survival.

For Chinese glyphosate industry, the scrutiny will raise the industry entry threshold, restrain the production overcapacity, improve the industry concentration, and impact its upstream industries etc.

For the whole pesticide industry, glyphosate (PMIDA) environmental scrutiny can promote the upgrade of the whole pesticide industry and play an irreplaceable role in the healthy development of pesticide industry.

In this report, it described the policy background of glyphosate (PMIDA) environmental scrutiny, the name list of enterprises who passed the scrutiny in the first batch, the new progress of scrutiny, and its influence of the whole pesticide industry. At the end of this report, there were some investment suggestions.
