Abstracts

Over the past few years, China's herbicide industry has been developing in a more environmentally friendly, green and sustainable way. Influenced by factors such as crop planting structure, technology development and environmental policies, the product structure in China's herbicide industry witnessed big changes.

In this report, the herbicide product structure changes from 2000 to 2010 had been detailed according to herbicide registrations. Besides, the product structure changes since 2008 has also been described and they had been deeply analyzed in different aspects. The prediction of herbicide structure in next few years will be another highlight for this report.

In this report, the herbicide structure change in China had been analyzed exhaustively in the following aspects:

Overview (herbicide product structure changes from registration aspect)

Herbicide structure changes (2008-2013)

Factor analysis

Prediction (to 2016)
