Abstracts

As the largest part of pesticide industry, herbicide industry has experienced fast growth in the past decade. At present, similar to other chemical industries, herbicide industry is suffering from oversupply and serious pollution problems. However, many investment chances still exist, which are contributed by environmental protection policies, industrial transformation and upgrading, product upgrading, increasing demand, etc.

Generally speaking, as a fine chemical industry, pesticide industry has a relatively high input-output investment ratio, and its profit is higher than that in the whole chemical material industry. Besides, after several difficult years, pesticide industry had begun its recovery since 2012, and its gross profit margin began to increase. So it is time to invest in pesticide industry, especially in herbicide industry.

In this report, investment opportunity in China's herbicide industry had been analysed deeply in detail from the aspects of enterprises, products, etc.
