Abstracts

The Executive Summary is from CCM's report called Market Survey of Isomalto-oligosaccharide, Polydextrose, Crystal Fructose in China which is finished in Nov 2015.

Along with the public's increasing awareness of food safety and healthy dietary, the low sugar products, such as isomalto-oligosaccharide(IMO), such as polydextrose(PD) and crystal fructose(CF) etc., at large have been attracting more and more attention. With the increasing demand in the food industry, the starch sugar, especially the specialty starch sugar, is estimated to keep growing stably in the following years.

In 2014, the output of isomalto-oligosaccharide(IMO), such as polydextrose(PD) and crystal fructose(CF) is 85,000 tonnes, 15,100 tonnes and 38,000 tonnes, with the consumption volumes of 59,600 tonnes, 6,550 tonnes and 21,800 tonnes respectively. With the great demand for healthy food, the specialty starch sugar will have a prosperous future.

From this report, you can learn the following points:

Quality standard of isomalto-oligosaccharide, polydextrose and crystalline fructose.

Supply of corn and starch in China, 2010-2014.

Capacity and output of these three specialty starch sugar products

Market price of these three products.

Major producers and their major customers of these products.

Cost analysis of the largest producers of these products in China.

Forecast on the supply and demand of these products.

Etc.
