Driven by rapid development of domestic flavour industry, Chinese myrcene industry witnessed fast development in the past few years, as more enterprises engaged in the myrcene production in China. In addition, half of Chinese myrcene was ever exported. However, with increasing demand from domestic market, the degree of dependence of myrcene on export is dropping. After detailed export analysis of myrcene in 2002~H1 2005, CCM will give estimate of myrcene export in 2009 and major influencing factors for the changes of export.

After recent years' development, the consumption fields of myrcene have taken great changes in the past few years. In this report, CCM will figure out the current consumption volume and share in each field, and find out major end users of myrcene in China.

Besides focuses above, CCM will also provide you an insightful analysis on other following aspects:

- China's situation of myrcene supply in 2009 and the first half of 2010
- Price of myrcene in the past years and current price
- Raw material supply of myrcene
- Key factors and driven forces for the development of myrcene in China
- Forecast on production, export and consumption of myrcene in the next 5~10 years in China
- Detailed introduction to all active myrcene producers in China
