Abstracts

China had started the research and development of nucleic acids series 30 years ago. Now China also engages in the commercial production of this series.

Industrially the Chinese people classify the nucleic acids series products by the degree of industrialization.

- Those industrialized products:

carnine, co-enzyme A, DNA, polyinosinic, ribavirin, nicholin, adenine arabinoside;

- Those failed to launch commercial production due to the market influence:

RNA, I+G, ATP

- Those under development and are expected to launch production in small scale:

Guanosine, coenzymel.

In this report we focus on nucleic acid, which is macro-molecules (polynucleotide) found in living cells, which are important and is basic substance for heredity in controlling the reproduction, growth and metabolism of living systems. It occurs in close association with protein to form nucleoproteins.
