Abstracts

Clethodim is a kind of herbicide that can control gramineous weeds on fields of soybean, rapeseed, peanut, potato, mung bean and red bean. In recent years, China's clethodim industry has developed rapidly. The capacity and output of clethodim increased a lot from 2018 to 2022. Besides, it also witnessed a huge growth in the total export volume of both clethodim technical and formulations in China. As an effective and environmental friendly herbicide, clethodim plays a more and more important role at home and abroad in recent few years. Although China's clethodim industry develops rapidly in recent years, it still faces some problems, such as the limited varieties of formulations, weak brand influence, and the threat from transgenic crops and so on. In this report, more specific information is provided.

From this report, you can:
