Abstracts

Description:

CCM has finished a market report named Production and Market of Lactic Acid in China in Nov 2009. In order to meet clients' different demands and provide more low-price products, we separated it into many sub-reports with different specific themes. Profile of Lactic Acid Manufacturers in China is one of the sub-reports.

China has a long history in lactic acid production, and started to engage in the research since 1930s. In recent five years, China has been witnessing rapid lactic acid production expansion. At present, the country has become one of the major lactic acid manufacturing countries in the world. With the information covered in the report, readers can see the general production and consumption situation of lactic acid in China. It is recommended that cooperating with related enterprises in China to develop high purity L-lactic acid and reduce production cost is a good way.
