Abstracts

This executive summary is extracted from Kcomber's Report on Glyphosate Business Opportunities Worldwide in August 2016.

Glyphosate is the world's biggest selling herbicide, seeing a sharp growth in both sales volume and sales value. In 2015, global glyphosate sales decreased to USD6.4 billion, accompanied with a market demand of about 710,000 tonnes (95% technical equivalent), USD1.0 billion less than 2014 because of the decreasing price and demand.

This executive summary briefs you the general information of the world glyphosate market, as well as glyphosate's key upstream products including DEA, IDAN, glycine, phosphorus trichloride, etc., helping you clearly know the changes of glyphosate market and the world glyphosate capacity transfer in recent years, and adjust your strategy more precisely.
