Abstracts

Description:Currently, China is an important lignosulfonates production country in the world and domestic production of some lignosulfonates still stays in experimental stage because of its immature production technology.

This report Study on Lignosulfonate in China is a sub-report of Study on Lignin and Lignin-based Products in China published in Jan, 2011 by CCM International Ltd. In this sub-report, CCM analyzes lignosulfonate in terms of raw materials, technology development, application situation and forecast, etc. Clients can capture general production, application and R&D progress of lignosulfonate in China, finding out the potential business opportunities for the players who hope to benefit from lignosulfonate.
