Bio-pesticides are certain types of pesticides derived from such natural materials as animals, plants, bacteria, and certain minerals. For example, canola oil and baking soda have pesticidal applications and are considered bio-pesticides. With people's rising awareness of environmental protection and food safety, more and more attention has been paid to bio-pesticide, which enjoys advantages of no pollution, no residue, and high efficiency. So bio-pesticide has bright market outlook in the future. At the end of 2010, there were approximately more than 2,500 registered bio-pesticide active ingredients and 250 products.

The Survey of Bio-pesticide Industry in China is CCM's first edition report on Chinese bio-pesticide industry, finished in April 2011. This intelligence report attaches importance to the following parts:

Update all the data related to bio-pesticide industry from technical and formulations in China in the past years, including registration, supply, export, price, demand, etc.

Pay close attention to what technology they are using and how they achieved the technology.

Identify the leading players and emerging products of bio-pesticide industry in China

Indicate which and how Chinese producers collaborate with MNCs.

Emphasize on demand volume and value of bio-pesticides market in 2008-2010, as well as the consumption structure by crops.

Figure out the development status and influencing factors including drivers and barriers.

Forecast on bio-pesticides from supply, export, price, demand volume and value in 2011-2015.

Get a clear understanding of the future development trend, and identify China's position of bio-pesticide industry from a global perspective.

Explore commercial opportunities of bio-pesticide industry in China under the context of the new global economy situation.

SWOT analysis of top 5 domestic bio-pesticides players
