Executive Summary

Access Control generally refers to a system that can control, monitor and restrict the movement of people, assets or vehicles, in, out and around a building or site. The benefits of using an access control system include the prevention of loss or damage to capital assets and the reduced risk of personal injury to staff and visitors. Access control applications range from controlling a single entrance door to managing a large complex site. Electronic access control systems are the most used security systems across the globe due to reliability and authenticity.

Growth of the global access control security system market is driven by a number of factors that include high crime rates, infrastructure development, urbanization and increasing prosperity. Acknowledging these factors, it could be said that the access control system business will certainly gain importance in the years to come. While in some regions like North America, Europe, Latin America, Middle East and Africa the demand for access control security system market is expected to rise, the demand is likely to be low in china.

However, tailgating, lever crashing, expensive and access cards are vulnerable to sophisticated attacks and pose major challenge to the growth of access control security system market. Major trends prevailing in the global access control security system market are technological innovation, globalization and changes in the dynamic smart phone market.
