Abstracts

The global home textile market was valued at US$111.38 billion in 2021 and is expected to propel to US$145.05 billion by 2026. Home textiles include bedding, bath linen, kitchen and table accessories, carpets and rugs, and other items used as interior decoration. Home textiles, also known as textile home furnishing fabrics, are made up of both natural and man-made fabrics.

Demand for home textiles has mostly peaked in developed economies. However, in emerging markets, demand growth is expected to be increase at a significant rate as disposable income growth facilitates a shift to more luxury spend. The home textile market is projected to expand at a CAGR of 5.53% over the forecast period of 2022-2026.

Market Segmentation Analysis:

By Category: The report consists the bifurcation of the home textile market into four segments based on category: Bed Linen, Bath Linen, Carpet and Rugs, and Others. In 2021, the Bed Linen segment lead the home textile market, covering approximately 46% share of the market. The Bed Linen industry is expected to experience high growth, owing to the rising demand for luxury and designer bed linen with multiple functional benefits, which would drive market value gain. Also, the same segment has the highest CAGR of approximately 6% and is expected to grow exponentially as there would be a growing willingness to invest in products that provide more relaxing and rejuvenating sleeping and bathing experiences.

By Distribution Channel: The report provides the bifurcation of the home textile market into two segments based on distribution channel: Retail Outlets and online. In 2021, the Retail Outlets home textile segment lead the home textile market, occupying more than half of the market. The retail outlets home textile industry is expected to experience high growth, owing to the better selling experience of the manufacturing industry and catering to the needs of the customers, which has resulted in the significant growth of home textiles in retail outlets industry.

By Region: In the report, the global home textiles market is divided into four regions: Asia Pacific, North America, Europe and Rest of the world. Asia Pacific dominated the market in 2021 with almost 37% share of the global home textile market. Asia Pacific is anticipated to lead the global home textiles market during the forecast period, due to the availability of cheap labour, raw material, products, etc. Asian countries such as China, India, and Pakistan are some of the largest suppliers for the home textiles. Asia Pacific is further divided into four regions: China, India, Japan and Rest of Asia Pacific. The changing customer preferences and trends in the market related to the home textiles and cross culture expansion would boost the home textile products in Asia Pacific countries. The home textile market in the China is expected to hold a significant share, as it is world's largest textile industry in terms of both overall production and exports.

Global Exhibition Market Dynamics:

Growth Drivers: One of the most important factors impacting home textiles market dynamics is the increase in consumer spending on home renovation and decoration. Rapid Urbanization is an important growth driver owing to the increase in the home textile products. Furthermore, the market has been growing over the past few years, due to factors such as increase in fabric demand of light weight products, improvement in standard of living, growing real estate sector, rise in E-commerce, etc.

Challenges: However, the market has been confronted with some challenges specifically, high cost of logistics and threat from Counterfeit products. In home textile market, many products such as Bedding Set, Kitchen Accessories, Bathroom Accessories, Table sets, Rugs and Matts, Curtains etc. of major manufacturing companies can be copied and presented to the customers. These counterfeit products are made of low quality components, in an attempt to sell a cheap imitation of similar goods produced by brands consumers know and trust.

Trends: The market is projected to grow at a fast pace during the forecast period, due to various latest trends such as use of eco friendly home furnishing. Manufacturers have stopped using chemical dyes and are instead using natural fibres because their customers prefer natural products. In the future, these products will be popular and in high demand among customers. Furthermore, the market is expected to growth in the future due to increased demand for non woven fabric, innovations in home textile products, etc.

Impact Analysis of COVID-19 and Way Forward:

Due to the pandemic, many home textile manufacturing companies have suffered losses and even shutdown. Major impact was seen on the supply chain of home textile market as lockdown lead to decline in exports and imports of home textile products. While in 2021, the home textile market rebounded because of the online trend in the market and the company's manufacturing innovative products for the changing needs of their customers.
