Executive Summary

The home furnishings industry includes manufacturers of furniture, upholstery, carpets, wall coverings, and bedding, as well as soft home furnishings, such as bedspreads and other bed-related items, linens, tablecloths, and candles.

The home furnishings industry is cyclical, rising and falling with unemployment, interest rates, and other economic indicators. The furniture market dominates the industry. Furniture manufacturers see their businesses move along with interest rates and the housing market.

Cash flow of companies is seasonal, with higher sales in third and fourth quarters. Transactions are by cash or credit card, so accounts receivable are low. Gross margins are typically 40% to 45% of net sales. The industry is unregulated except for standard state and federal regulations against deceptive sales practices and laws that regulate the use of credit financing.

The US home furnishing market can be broadly segmented into Furniture; Small Electric Appliances; China Glassware, Tableware & Utensils; and Household Linens. The Furniture segment can be further segmented into furniture; clock, lamps, others; carpet and floor coverings; and window coverings. The China Glassware, Tableware and Utensils can be further segmented into dishes and flatware; and non electric cookware and tableware.

The United States home furnishing market has increased with a healthy growth rate over the years and is expected to increase further during the forecasted period (2016-2020). The home furnishing market is supported by various growth drivers, such as favorable demographics of the United States, Omni-channel Approach, increasing e-commerce and m-commerce penetration, etc. Yet, the market faces certain challenges, such as low home furnishing share of wallet, widening gap between PPI and CPI, etc.
