In solution, security segment are growing at the highest CAGR because security is a basic component of any application, particularly with respect to APIs, where there are hundreds or thousands of applications making calls on a daily basis. New dangers and vulnerabilities are made consistently and organizations race with time to fix the components. It is necessary to shield the APIs from assaults.

In deployment type, cloud is growing with highest CAGR rate because rapid shift of organization from on-premises to cloud segment due to acceptance of new and innovated technologies.

In organization size, small and medium sized enterprises segment is growing with highest CAGR because small and medium enterprises, popularly known as SMEs are growing at a rapid growth rate owing to high economic growth across the globe. The deployment of APIs in these enterprises ensures maximum work within reduced time and creation of power reports with automated dashboards.

In industry vertical, IT & telecommunication segment is growing at the highest CAGR because Integration of API in IT and telecommunication firms demonstrate the modern day power of gathering information. By incorporating APIs, many firms can use its customer touch points to collect information through software systems.
