Research Summary

A2 milk is a type of cow's milk that contains only the A2 beta-casein protein, as opposed to conventional cow's milk which contains both A1 and A2 proteins. The A1 and A2 proteins are variants of beta-casein, a major protein in milk. A2 milk is obtained from specific cow breeds that naturally produce milk with predominantly A2 protein. Proponents of A2 milk claim that it is easier to digest and may be a better option for individuals who experience discomfort or digestive issues when consuming regular cow's milk. The A2 protein is believed to be less prone to forming certain peptides that can cause digestive disturbances in some people. However, scientific research on the health benefits of A2 milk is still limited, and more studies are needed to fully understand its potential effects. A2 milk is gaining popularity in several countries, and it is often marketed as a more easily digestible and natural alternative to standard cow's milk.

The major global manufacturers of A2 Milk include The a2 Milk Company, GCMMF (Amul), Freedom Nutritional, Vietnam Dairy Products, Ratnawali Dairy Products, Beijing Sanyuan Food, Alexandre Family Farm, Vedaz Organics, etc. The global players
