Research Summary

Bottle sealing wax is a type of wax used to seal the tops of bottles, typically those containing liquids such as wine, spirits, or specialty beverages. It is a blend of waxes, resins, and other additives that are melted and applied to the bottle's closure, usually a cork or a screw cap, to create a secure and tamper-evident seal. The wax is melted to a liquid state and poured over the bottle's closure, forming a protective layer that helps preserve the contents and prevent leakage. After application, the wax solidifies and can be imprinted with customized designs or logos for branding purposes. Bottle sealing wax provides an aesthetically pleasing and traditional finishing touch to bottles, while also serving as a visual indication of the bottle's integrity. When the bottle is opened, the wax must be broken, indicating that the seal has been tampered with.

The major global manufacturers of Bottle Sealing Wax include Calwax, Blended Waxes, Westech Wax, Custom Wax n' Seals, Cortica Benicia, The British Wax Refining Company, Oakbank Products Limited, The Darent Wax Company, Kings Wax, Wax Matic, Wax-Works, Jax Wax, Australian Wax, Southwest Wax, J.
