Research Summary

Buy Now Pay Later (BNPL) is a payment option that allows consumers to make purchases immediately and delay payment for the goods or services over a specified period of time. With BNPL, customers can typically complete their purchase without upfront payment or the need for a traditional credit card. Instead, they can choose to split the cost of their purchase into installments, usually interest-free, over a fixed duration. BNPL services are typically provided by third-party companies that partner with retailers or e-commerce platforms, offering consumers greater flexibility and convenience in managing their finances. While BNPL can be advantageous for budgeting and accessing desired products without immediate payment, it is important for users to carefully consider the terms and conditions, including any fees or interest charges that may apply, to avoid potential financial implications.

The major global suppliers of Buy Now Pay Later include Afterpay, Holdings, Klarna Bank, Laybuy Group Holdings Limited, Payl8r, PayPal Holdings, Quadpay, Perpay, Sezzle, Splitit, etc. The global players competition landscape in this report is divided into
