Research Summary

Clethodim is a selective herbicide used to control grassy weeds in various agricultural crops and non-crop areas. It belongs to the chemical class of cyclohexenones and is primarily used to manage unwanted grasses, such as annual and perennial grasses, in crops like soybeans, cotton, peanuts, and sunflowers. Clethodim works by inhibiting the enzyme acetyl-coenzyme A carboxylase, which is essential for fatty acid synthesis in grasses. This disruption prevents the growth and development of target grass weeds, while leaving broadleaf plants and other non-target species largely unaffected. Clethodim is available in various formulations, including emulsifiable concentrate (EC) and oil dispersion (OD) formulations, and can be applied as a foliar spray. Proper application and adherence to label instructions are essential to ensure effective weed control and minimize the risk of off-target damage. As with any pesticide, careful use and consideration of environmental and safety factors are crucial when using clethodim in agricultural and non-agricultural settings.

The major global manufacturers of Clethodim include Shandong CYNDA, Yifan Biotech, Shenyang SCIENCREAT, Shandong Qiaochang, Yadong Chemical, Lansen, Nutrichem, UPL (Arysta), Jiangsu Changqing Agrochemical, Cangzhou Green Chemical, etc. The global players competition landscape in this report is divided into three tiers.
