Research Summary

Cruise tourism refers to a form of travel and vacation that involves taking a cruise ship or ocean liner to visit multiple destinations in a leisurely and luxurious manner. It is a popular mode of tourism where passengers can enjoy a wide range of amenities, entertainment, and activities on board while the ship transports them to various coastal or island destinations. Cruise tourism offers a convenient and all-inclusive travel experience, providing passengers with accommodation, meals, and entertainment, all within the confines of a floating resort. Along the journey, passengers have the opportunity to explore different ports of call, participate in guided excursions, and experience the culture and attractions of diverse destinations. Cruise tourism caters to a variety of interests and age groups, making it an appealing option for families, couples, and solo travelers seeking a relaxing and enriching vacation at sea.

The major global suppliers of Cruise Tourism include Carnival Corporation, Royal Caribbean, Norwegian Cruise Lines, MSC Cruises, Disney Cruise, Genting Hong Kong, Marella Cruises (TUI), Saga Cruises (Saga Group), Bohai Cruise, Century Cruises, etc.

The global players competition landscape in this report is divided into three tiers. The first tier comprises global leading enterprises that command a substantial market share, hold a dominant industry position, possess strong competitiveness and influence, and generate significant revenue. The second tier includes companies with a notable market presence and reputation; these firms actively follow industry leaders in product, service, or technological innovation and maintain a moderate revenue scale. The third tier consists of smaller companies with limited market share and lower brand recognition, primarily focused on local markets and generating comparatively lower revenue.

This report studies the market size, price trends and future development prospects of Cruise Tourism. Focus on analysing the market share, product portfolio, prices, sales, revenue and gross profit margin of global major suppliers, as well as the market status and trends of different product types and applications in the global Cruise Tourism market.
