Research Summary

In supermarkets, grocery lockers are secure storage compartments designed to streamline and enhance the convenience of online grocery shopping. Placed within or adjacent to supermarkets, these lockers provide customers with a designated space to retrieve their online orders at their preferred time. After placing an order through the supermarket's online platform, customers can opt for locker pickup. Once the order is ready, supermarket staff place the items in the assigned locker. Customers receive a notification or a unique code, allowing them to access their designated locker and collect their groceries at their convenience. This system eliminates the need for traditional in-store pickup queues and provides a contactless and efficient solution for customers who prefer online shopping but still want the flexibility to pick up their groceries in person. Grocery lockers in supermarkets contribute to a seamless omnichannel shopping experience, integrating the convenience of online ordering with the physical accessibility of brick-and-mortar stores.
