Research Summary

A PTZ (Pan-Tilt-Zoom) camera is a type of surveillance camera with remote-controlled functionalities that allow users to pan (move horizontally), tilt (move vertically), and zoom in on a subject. These cameras are widely used in security and surveillance applications where the ability to monitor a wide area and zoom in for detailed views is essential. PTZ cameras can be controlled manually by an operator or automatically through preset patterns and tracking algorithms. The pan and tilt movements enable the camera to cover a large area, while the zoom feature allows for close-up views without physically repositioning the camera. PTZ cameras are commonly employed in locations such as airports, malls, and large outdoor spaces where dynamic monitoring and versatile camera control are crucial for effective security surveillance.

The major global manufacturers of PTZ Camera include Axis, FLIR, Hikvision, Honeywell, Panasonic, Vaddio, Dahua Technology, Infinova, Pelco, Canon, Sony, Bosch Security Systems, Vicon, Avigilon, YAAN, etc. The global players competition landscape in this report is divided into three tiers.
