Research Summary

Pure nicotine refers to the isolated, concentrated form of the alkaloid nicotine, a naturally occurring compound found in the leaves of the tobacco plant (Nicotiana tabacum) and other related plants. Typically obtained through extraction processes, pure nicotine is a colorless to pale yellow liquid that is highly potent and can be toxic in even small amounts. It is widely used in the manufacturing of tobacco products, such as cigarettes, cigars, and smokeless tobacco, where it acts as the primary psychoactive substance responsible for the addictive properties of these products. Additionally, pure nicotine is utilized in the production of smoking cessation aids, such as nicotine replacement therapies (NRTs) like patches, gum, and lozenges, designed to help individuals quit or reduce their dependence on tobacco. Due to its toxicity, handling and use of pure nicotine require careful attention to safety measures and regulation.

The major global manufacturers of Pure Nicotine include Chemnovatic, Contraf Nicotex Tobacco (CNT), AmeriNic, Nicobrand, BGP Health Care, Alchem, Golden Leaf, Shanxi Ganghua, Xi'an Yunzhi, Heno, etc. The global players competition landscape in this
