Research Summary

Towable RVs, or towable recreational vehicles, are travel trailers or camper trailers designed to be towed by a motorized vehicle, such as a car, truck, or SUV. These RVs come in various types and sizes, including travel trailers, fifth-wheel trailers, pop-up campers, and teardrop trailers. Unlike motorized RVs, towable RVs do not have their own engine but rely on being towed by a separate vehicle. Travel trailers attach to a hitch at the rear of the towing vehicle, while fifth-wheel trailers connect to a special hitch in the bed of a pickup truck. Towable RVs offer a flexible and versatile way for individuals or families to enjoy the comforts of home while traveling, camping, or exploring different destinations. They are popular for their affordability, ease of use, and the ability to unhook and leave the RV at a campsite while using the towing vehicle for local exploration.
