Abstracts

Although North America is already the second-largest market in terms of retail value sales for adult incontinence, the region still offers significant growth opportunities, due to favourable demographic conditions and changing consumer perceptions. The industry has seen significant investments in marketing and product development. However, due to the growth opportunities, the industry is vulnerable to increased competition, which is expected to drive down prices and negatively impact profits.

It identifies the opportunity zones within tissue and hygiene, analyses leading companies and brands, assesses the importance of private label and offers strategic analysis of major factors influencing the market - be they new product developments, economic/lifestyle/environmental influences, distribution or pricing issues. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.
