Abstracts

Even if the declines have slowed in powder milk formula sales in Hong Kong in the last two years, after peaking in 2020, packaging unit volumes were still falling in 2022. Dried baby food and powder milk formula were the two worst performers, again, in 2022, with prepared baby and “other baby food” seeing less marked declines in this year. Demand for powder milk formula in Hong Kong had been boosted by mainland Chinese consumers perceiving powder milk formula sold in Hong Kong as being of superi...
