Abstracts

Total packaging volumes in baby food continued to decline in 2022, with falling volumes across all categories and most pack types, as more parents fed their babies with home-cooked food and breastfed their babies, as this is considered better for babies' health. Nevertheless, in 2022 the pack type share of brick liquid cartons for baby food packaging increased. This is because these are designed to provide a strong barrier against contaminants, ensuring the quality and safety of the baby food in...
