Abstracts

Morocco's latest unemployment data exhibits a rise to almost 13% in the first three months of 2023, from just over 12% over the same period last year, as the farming sector shrunk due to the worst drought in decades, directly affecting the sector's demand for workers. Unemployment is more acute among young people aged 15 to 24. Meanwhile, among graduates specifically, unemployment averaged 20%, and among women 18%. Women's participation in the economy hovers around 30% of the total number of job...
