Abstracts

Retail volume sales of consumer electronics continued to fall in 2023, with the rate of decline accelerating compared to the previous year. This was mainly the result of a slump in demand for computer and peripherals, although almost all other categories, including home video, headphones and mobile phones, suffered further decreases. While the return of inbound tourism, which was postponed during the COVID-19 pandemic, provided a welcome boost to the economy, households were reluctant to spend t...
