Abstracts

Tablets, smartphones and LCD TVs will remain the key driving forces of growth in consumer electronics over the foreseeable future. However, demand for these products will stagnate in developed countries, and as volume sales growth shifts to emerging markets average selling prices are expected to fall. The popularity of these multi-function devices will erode sales of single-function devices like cameras and video players.

Euromonitor International's Consumer Electronics: Trends and Analysis global briefing offers insight on emerging geographies, key growth categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading companies and brands, and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market – be it new product developments, economic/lifestyle influences, distribution or pricing issues. From the latest innovations such as Smartphones, Ultrabooks and OLED TVs to existing technologies such as Laptops, Home Audio and Cinema Systems and In-Car Entertainment, Euromonitor International offers a consistent yet incisive snapshot of the Consumer Electronics industry. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and the criteria for success over the next five years.

Product coverage: Computers and Peripherals, In-Car Entertainment, In-Home Consumer Electronics, Portable Consumer Electronics.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
