Abstracts

Consumer credit gross lending has experienced further strong growth in 2023, along similar lines to the previous year. The main factor behind this growth has been the improvement in economic conditions as a result of increased community mobility since the removal of restrictions imposed to limit the spread of COVID-19, as well as promotional activities by players. The end of the year has been a key period for disbursing consumer credit, in the form of home renovation/refurbishment loans, for exa...
