Abstracts

A slew of new products, such as smart wearables and wireless speakers, and innovations such as Ultra HD TVs and convertible laptops resonate with the shift in consumer preferences. These products command higher retail selling prices, helping to boost value sales. Previously, manufacturers and retailers had been forced to resort to discounts to drive sales, undermining their profitability.

Euromonitor International's Consumers are Paying More for Consumer Electronics global briefing offers insight on emerging geographies, key growth categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading companies and brands, and offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the market – be it new product developments, economic/lifestyle influences, distribution or pricing issues. From the latest innovations such as Smartphones, Ultrabooks and OLED TVs to existing technologies such as Laptops, Home Audio and Cinema Systems and In-Car Entertainment, Euromonitor International offers a consistent yet incisive snapshot of the Consumer Electronics industry. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and the criteria for success over the next five years.

Product coverage: Computers and Peripherals, Digital Cameras by Type, In-Car Entertainment, In-Home Consumer Electronics, LCD TVs by Screen Type, Mobile Phones by Type of Contract, Portable Consumer Electronics, Smartphones by OS, Tablets by OS, TVs by Network Connectivity.
