Abstracts

The swift reopening of the Dominican Republic following the COVID-19 pandemic gave the economy a boost, with the influx of tourists reinvigorating businesses. The tourism sector is a significant contributor to GDP and so the rebound in tourism has injected much needed income into the country. Inflation has decreased substantially in 2023 following two years of high rates. Nonetheless, some categories are still feeling the impact of inflation more than others, such as sauces, condiments and oils,...
