Abstracts

Increases in the prices of supervised and non-supervised dairy products in 2022 and 2023 have had a strong impact on categories. Higher prices have constrained retail volume growth potential amid high inflation and the rising cost of living in Israel, while driving up retail current value sales. Meanwhile, baby food continues to benefit from a strong, if gradually falling, birth rate. Moreover, more women are inclined to mix nursing with milk formula. As women feed their babies with milk formula...
