Abstracts

Specialist coffee shops was one of the fastest growing foodservice channels globally in 2016. The format can be credited for growing the market for out-of-home coffee consumption, but innovation at the bottom of the ladder is making better-quality coffee more accessible than ever. Quality coffee is democratising, which means the unique selling point of specialist coffee shops is changing. Chained players are embracing format diversification and digital channels to remain competitive.

Euromonitor International's Democratic Coffee: New Approaches to Coffee Away From Home global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Consumer Foodservice market, highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces. It identifies the leading operators and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the operating environment - be they economic/lifestyle influences, new foodservice concepts, outlet locations, menu innovation or format development. The entire industry is considered, including both chained and independent operators. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and what is the criteria for success.

Product coverage: Consumer Foodservice by Location, Consumer Foodservice by Type.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
