Abstracts

Topical antifungals was one of the most dynamic subcategories within dermatologicals in current value terms in 2023, continuing the trend of the previous year. Following a sluggish performance during the first three years of the review period, such products made a strong recovery, as New Zealanders reconnected with family and friends, which meant that fungal infections were more likely to spread from person to person. Consumers also spent more time outside engaging in sporting activities such as...
